

authors

origin of the articles, translators

Victòria Camps is professor of Moral and Political Philosophy at the Autonomous University of Barcelona. Her article appeared in L'Espill 25. Translation by Andrew Gray ||

Joan Prats is a political scientist and director of the International Centre on Governance, Barcelona. His article appeared in Via 2. Translation by Andrew Gray ||

Julià Guillamon is a writer and literary critic (Barcelona). His contribution appeared in the book Literatures de l'exili (Barcelona, 2006). Translation by Ivano Stocko ||

Albert Balcells is professor of Contemporary History at the Autonomous University of Barcelona. His article appeared in Idees 28/29. Translation by Andrew Stacey ||

Llibert Tarragó is a journalist and publisher. Borja de Riquer is professor of Contemporary History at the Autonomous University of Barcelona. This interview appeared in the book by Llibert Tarragó Le puzzle catalan. La nation fiévreuse (Autrement, Paris, 2007). Translation by L. Solavagione and M. Jacques ||

Andreu Mayayo is Professor of Contemporary History at the University of Barcelona. His article appeared in L'Avenç 314. Translation by Andrew Spence ||

M. Dolors Genovés is a journalist and a historian (Barcelona). Her article appeared in Idees 28/29. Translation by Andrew Stacey ||

Queralt Solé is a historian and lecturer in Contemporary History at the University of Barcelona. Her article appeared in Afers 56. Translation by Andrew Stacey ||

Francesc-Marc Álvaro is a journalist and columnist of La Vanguardia (Barcelona). His article appeared in Serra d'Or (November 2006). Translation by Julie Wark ||

Carme Puche is a journalist (Barcelona). She contributes regularly about culture and science. Her article appeared in Mètode 51. Translation by Julie Wark ||

Pilar Vélez is an art historian and director of the Frederic Marès Museum of Barcelona. Her article appeared in L'Avenç 328. Translation by Julie Wark ||

Xavier Pla is a lecturer in Catalan literature at the University of Girona. This essay appeared as epilogue to the French edition of Joan Sales Incerta glòria. Translation by L. Solavagione and M. Jacques ||

Mercè Rius and Daniel Gamper are Assistant Professors in Philosophy at the Autonomous University of Barcelona. Xavier Rubert de Ventós is a philosopher. This interview appeared in L'Espill 26. Translation by Julie Wark ||

Manel Ollé is a historian and lecturer in Catalan Literature at the Pompeu Fabra University, Barcelona, and a literary critic. Quim Monzó is a writer. This interview appeared in L'Avenç 325. Translation by Julie Wark ||

Jordi Rourera is Associate Professor in Catalan Literature at the University of Barcelona. His review appeared in Els Marges 81. Translation by Julie Wark ||

Simona Škrabec is a essayist and literary critic (Barcelona). Her review appeared in Caràcters 39. Translation by Julie Wark ||

Joan Carles Simó is a literary critic (Majorca). His review appeared in Lluc 853. Translation by Julie Wark ||

Brauli Montoya is a sociolinguist and Associate Professor in Catalan Literature at the University of Alacant. His review appeared in Afers 56. Translation by Ivano Stocko ||

Manuel Forcano is a writer and poet (Barcelona). Translation by Julie Wark ||