

WELCOME PACK

SISMODANCE

26, 27 & 30 APRIL

Dear Visiting Artist,

We are so happy to welcome you to the sixteenth edition of Sismògraf! It is a pleasure to have you and your beautiful project be part of the programme alongside other wonderful artists that propose great questions about social, environmental and relational challenges that our planet faces.

You will enjoy the second weekend of the Festival, the one we called SISMODANSA (SismoDance); the shows you will see are mostly held by local Visiting Artist that have been around European Dance Festivals in the last editions or will be soon.

We have prepared this information kit to help you organize your trip and make it easier for you to enjoy your stay in Olot.

SISMÒGRAF FESTIVAL PRESENTATION

Writing a text with emotional intelligence is becoming increasingly challenging in this turbulent and unwelcoming world we're shaping. Designing a cultural programme for the community without inherently questioning its suitability is no easy feat. That's why, with Sismògraf, we're striving to create an artistic endeavour that helps us inhabit the planet in a more grounded and mindful way – one that lets us share the joy of creative expression, even in the face of adversity or when it leaves a bitter aftertaste.

In this edition of the festival, we offer a plethora of performances and a couple of avenues to venture into, threads to unravel. One avenue invites us to explore the intersections between craftsmanship and technology, between the ancient and contemporary tools, a relationship that has fascinated and unsettled humanity for generations.

The other eruption we're proposing is the idea of a geopoetics, inspired by Perejaume, encouraging us to reflect on a place or contemplate, with respect, those who weigh upon it.

You'll encounter creators from near and far, though some may be absent because, in the 21st century, they are imprisoned for being women or for being creators, for daring to stray from the narrow and criminal proposals of minds that only understand violence against others.

This festival aims to be a small part of building a better, and ultimately happier, society.
